

FLEXIBLE ICE BLANKET

Packaging ice blankets provide temperature control for shipping sensitive products where scalability and uniform cold is needed. Ideal for larger, palletted shipments, these unique blankets are made of connected pouches that are flexible when frozen and deliver consistent thermal protection. They can be wrapped around objects, even after it's frozen to mold to shipment and eliminate thermal "dead zones".

FEATURES

- For bulk shipping of refrigerated or frozen products (even under extreme ambient conditions).
- Can be refrozen and reused for added savings
- Stays cold longer than ice and does not release fluids when thawed
- Offers even weight distribution that will not shift during shipping.
- Leakproof to avoid water damage. The water remains inside the cells, even under significant pressure.
- Ideal for bulk warmed to prevent product from freezing
